JANE (CONT'D)
WHY?
WHY?

KIDS (CONT'D)
AH
AH

(Lights restore, the kids stare at her slack jawed. JANE stares fixed at CONSTANCE.)

CONSTANCE
Did anybody just pee themselves a little?

(Beat)

Me neither.

JANE
(to CONSTANCE)
Do you want to brush my dolly's hair?

CONSTANCE
(to OCEAN)
I'm really freaked out right now!

JANE
Do you want to know what really freaks me out?

CONSTANCE
Mmmm... not-really-ever-at-all-really-sorry.

KARNAK
Meet Jane Doe. Catchphrase:

(Lights suddenly down only on JANE.)

#5A JANE'S CATCHPHRASE UNDERSCORE

JANE
(In one breath, should time out with music)
When a lioness has children, she stops making love to the lion. The lion gets jealous, sometimes so jealous he eats the children. You'd think this would upset the lioness. Far from it, they make love again, like the children never existed. I find that idea terrifying.
